TOTC2020 Lobby Quotes
For the past eighteen years New Orleans has been the home of Tales of the Cocktail™, and in 2020, you welcomed us into your homes instead. An unprecedented moment in a time that pushed our global beverage community and the world to its limits, 2020 was a fitting year to explore the theme “Catalyst.” While the theme was chosen prior to widespread global shutdowns resulting from the pandemic, there was never a more appropriate time to celebrate those fostering innovation within our industry and, in turn, to spark change from within.

We adopted all the “pivots.” From the expected ones - our teams went remote, our Zoom meetings went into overdrive, we were forced to cancel Tales on Tour in Puerto Rico, and our year-round programming went digital—to some innovations that changed the way our organization engages with a diverse bar community spanning the globe.

Our nimble team worked tirelessly to open up our programming to the world on an entirely complimentary basis—something we have never accomplished in our near two decades of Tales of the Cocktail. We increased our global audience by 137%, with over 100 countries being represented in our conference. Our seminars saw a 47% spike in attendance, equating to thousands of bartenders and spirits professionals around the world gaining access to high-quality educational resources at this pivotal time.

That said, we recognized access to programming alone would not be enough to sustain our industry, as the bars that serve as the fabric of our communities in every pocket of the world continued to suffer. As we grappled with a global pandemic, we also witnessed the beginning of a much needed reconciliation of the racial injustices and inequalities that permeate all aspects of society with the murder of George Floyd and subsequent BLM protests. We did not want to just bear witness to this moment in time; we needed to actively engage in it in keeping with our professional and personal values. We enlisted Dr. Khayti Joshi to host a moving keynote on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI), and partnered with TMI Consulting to offer free DEI training to our Education, Grants, and Spirited Awards committees.

Through partnerships with BACARDI, Bombay Sapphire Gin and Rabbit Hole, The Foundation was able to award nearly 100 grants to provide immediate relief for our colleagues, many of which were furloughed and unemployed. In partnership with Grey Goose, we were able to award an additional $25,000 in Great Bar Race Inclusion and Representation Grants to organizations furthering meaningful DEI efforts for our industry.

We have long known that the Foundation’s job isn’t to singlehandedly enact the change our industry so desperately needs, but rather, it is to create a space for our community to convene and move the industry forward. We rapidly explored ways we could use our platform to shine a light on the many leaders and organizations who have stepped up to support an industry in crisis.

In a move many of our peers did not take during a precarious year, we held our annual awards programming. The Spirited Awards® are more than red carpets, engraved plates and praise for luminaries. The Awards empower us to celebrate the accomplishments of our peers while inspiring us to grow our craft and our community. They allow us to honor the trailblazers who have shaped the industry while simultaneously giving a global stage to those who are starting to leave their own indelible mark on it. So many of you have told us this unconventional decision was a reason to focus on the light and choose optimism during dark times. In turn, you have reminded us how much we have to celebrate and how much stronger we are together.

The pages that follow provide a snapshot of the 2020 we’d like to remember—a year of resilience, strength, hope and innovation—and the catalyst leading the Foundation to a brighter tomorrow.

Tales of the Cocktail Foundation’s annual Tales on Tour® was scheduled to return to Old San Juan, Puerto Rico from April 19-22, 2020 in an effort to stimulate economic rebuilding following the devastating earthquakes throughout the southwestern region of the island beginning at the end of 2019. Working alongside Discover Puerto Rico, TOTCF collaborated on programming to aid the community, including Beyond the Bar sessions with a focus on mental health and wellness in the wake of disaster. The four-day festival would have taken place at Hotel El Convento, as well as participating bars throughout San Juan. Programming included a Day of Service, a Day of Education, Beyond the Bar sessions, Spirited Dinners, and the organization’s signature Cocktail Apprentice Program. However, given the international audience of this event and the threat of COVID-19, the Foundation made the decision to cancel the event with the safety of attendees and the host city as the Foundation’s top priority.
Finding a way to immediately assist bartenders at the beginning of COVID-19 shutdowns, Tales of the Cocktail Foundation partnered with Bacardi Limited to benefit Most Imaginative Bartender participants and Rabbit Hole to benefit the Cocktail Apprentice Program (CAP) alumni.

Both partnerships provided grants to 95 bartenders in 7 countries, 23 states, Puerto Rico, and Washington, D.C.

Through Tales of the Cocktail Foundation’s Most Imaginative Bartender presented by Bombay Sapphire Gin, contestants were given grants donated by Bacardi Limited in March 2020. Mahesh Madhavan, CEO of Bacardi, said: “Bacardi is a family company, and for us, business is personal. We always say that love for our brands is built-in bars, and now it is our turn to show them our love.”
Through its #2DreamInside campaign, Rabbit Hole donated $50,000 to provide direct relief to the members of the 2019 Cocktail Apprentice Program (CAP) Class. Rabbit Hole Founder and Whiskey Maker, Kaveh Zamanian hoped to learn about bartenders’ dreams with the #2DreamInside campaign, inspire nurturing an inner spark, and encourage fueling it. However, creating something fresh and innovative takes guts, passion, and opportunity; which was made possible for the 2019 CAP class by the generous contribution of Rabbit Hole.

FULL HANDS IN / FULL HANDS OUT debuted as a weekly webinar session bringing together a panel of experts to discuss topics mirroring Tales of the Cocktail Foundation’s three themes of education: Business, Culture, and Beyond the Bar, in an effort to support the global drinks industry through community and best practices in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic. Derived from a service industry term, “full hands in” embodies the feeling of “all hands on deck” - this inclusive term brings the voices of all service-related communities (bar, restaurants, etc.) together to assist in the relief efforts for COVID-19. Ten episodes aired from March through June 2020 tackling a range of topics from bar recovery to being Black and Queer in the industry.

For the first time in its 18-year existence, Tales of the Cocktail® was held in an entirely digital format. Tales of the Cocktail continued to host the educational programming, Beyond the Bar activations and the annual Spirited Awards®, hallmarks for which Tales of the Cocktail Foundation (TOTCF) is known. The Foundation was pleased to be able to use this platform to support the global spirits industry during unprecedented times with complimentary programming. The Foundation felt it was paramount to make the conference free for attendees in light of the hardships faced by so many in the hospitality and spirits industry in the wake of COVID-19.

The digital conference, themed “Catalyst,” was held from Monday, September 21 through Thursday, September 24. Dr. Khayti Joshi, professor and published author, hosted the keynote for Tales of the Cocktail 2020 on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion.

For the first time in Tales history, the Pioneer Award Winner, historically part of Dame Hall of Fame®, was announced during the Spirited Awards. Dame Hall of Fame is a celebration of leaders who have made unique and lasting contributions to the global hospitality industry. Established in 2012, it serves to acknowledge and encourage mentorship throughout the beverage and hospitality industries. In an effort to make the Dame Hall of Fame more inclusive to the LGBTQIA+ community and other marginalized groups within the global drinks community, Tales of the Cocktail Foundation has chosen to move towards the use of the word “woman” as opposed to “womxn.”

In 2020, Tales of the Cocktail Foundation and Ladies United for the Preservation of Endangered Cocktails (LUPEC) made the decision to elevate the Pioneer Award by announcing the individual who has made unique and lasting contributions to the accessibility and intersectionality of the global drinks community on the main stage during the annual Spirited Awards.

The American Inductee and International Inductee were announced earlier in the week, on September 21st, and celebrated in a special ceremony on Thursday, September 23rd prior to the Spirited Awards pre-show and ceremony.

Dame Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony on YouTube
The 14th annual Spirited Awards® ceremony recognized the hard work executed by individuals and establishments in 2019. In support of the Foundation’s commitment to ensuring that the Spirited Awards continue to be equitable and fair, as well as taking into account the difficult year the industry has faced, the Foundation made some categorical changes to champion the community more thoughtfully. With the goal of providing more opportunities for others to be awarded for their work, the Foundation also updated its awards eligibility rules to no longer allow repeat winners in the same category in which they have already won.

The 2020 Spirited Awards celebrated:

- 56% increase of submissions
- Submissions from 56 countries
- 30 Award Recipients
- 3 Philanthropy Recognitions

TOTCF’s partnership with Grey Goose over the past year has evolved to become more than the epic bartender challenge known as The Great Bar Race. During the 2020 Grant Submission Period, TOTCF asked its community to submit projects they’ve been working on that advocate for change and awareness around social justice issues. The Great Bar Race Inclusion and Representation Grants were created to support individuals or projects working to address and tackle systemic problems within the drinks industry. To assist in the grants process, TOTCF and Grey Goose invited four organizations to New Orleans, along with an expert team of hospitality-focused non-profit leaders, for a two-day workshop to provide guidance and tools to assist them in crafting their Phase III: Full Grant Application submission for the TOTCF grant. The Great Bar Race Inclusion and Representation Grant Workshop was structured to give applicants tools for future grant applications, and assist in the overall execution of their project.

During the two-day workshop, applicants worked on branding, proposal feedback, development deep dive with experts who focus on DEI, non-profit finance, grant proposal content, and grant budgeting.
Tales of the Cocktail Foundation and Grey Goose are pleased to name Made in New Orleans Foundation (MiNO) and Turning Tables as the well-deserving recipients of the Great Bar Race Inclusion and Representation Grants. The collaborative grants were born out of TOTCF and Grey Goose’s shared passion for promoting equity, inclusion, and representation in the spirits industry. Each organization received $12,500 and the ongoing support of the Foundation’s Grants Advisory Committee to carry out their DEI initiatives.

Made in New Orleans (MiNO), is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization that envisions a New Orleans hospitality industry that leads the world in growing, supporting, and financing the success of BIPOC. At the industry level, the organization amplifies the voices of professionals of color and provides support to hospitality companies that are seeking to eliminate bias and disparities in their organizations. MiNO will use their grant to fund their “Equity Program” which provides practical tools to create unified and equitable workspaces.

Turning Tables advocates for diversity, visibility, and inclusivity in the hospitality industry, specifically for underserved and underrepresented communities of New Orleans. Their vision is to change the face of hospitality by creating a model for equitable access to career pathways through hands-on training, mentorship, industry exposure, and wrap-around support. Turning Tables will apply their funding to their “Fellowship Program” and to further their mission which advocates for equity in the hospitality industry by providing mentorship, educational tools, and platforms to support and sustain the Black and Brown communities of New Orleans.

Farm Distilled Tales of the Cocktail Foundation is thrilled to award a $25,000 grant within the Foundation’s Grants Program to Andrea Meriweather for her initiative FARM DISTILLED through a donation from Angel’s Envy.

In partnership with Louisville, Kentucky’s Historic Locust Grove, the FARM DISTILLED project equips underrepresented food and beverage talent, women and people of color, to explore professional development and entrepreneurship in the spirits industry through the exploration of history and trade. Further, the project aims to advocate for the employment of this talent pool to fulfill projected workforce shortages.
FUTURE PLANS

COVID/INDUSTRY SUPPORT
The Covid-19 Pandemic has hit the hospitality industry hard, and TOTCF has been a resource dedicated to support for hospitality workers. Throughout the pandemic TOTCF has offered free education, webinars, roundtables, regional best practices, and networking to support the community and rebuild together.

The Full Hands In / Full Hands Out series will continue in 2021 with a focus on other topical issues and getting back to business for industry support moving forward.

DIVERSITY, EQUITY, AND INCLUSION
In 2020 and 2021 TOTCF committed to creating more equitable programming initiatives throughout the different layers of the Foundation.

In keeping with the goals of the Team and the Foundation to address systemic racism and equity in the hospitality industry, we have partnered with TMI Consulting Inc. an online learning opportunity to engage with topics of diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI). TMI Academy was crafted by TMI’s veteran DEI practitioners to help organizations, teams, and individuals alike build inclusive and equitable experiences. The internal TOTCF Staff as well as over 50 key decision-makers from the Education, Grants, and Spirited Awards committees will cover 4 courses:

- DEI 101
- Unconscious Bias 101
- LGBTQIA+ 101
- Allyship 101

GRANTS AND EDUCATION EXPANSION | GLOBAL FOCUS
TOTCF 2021 Education and Grants committees are committed to increasing their global presence by welcoming new members from key regions around the globe including Asia Pacific, Latin American and Caribbean, Middle East and Africa, and Europe.

The Education Committee will be focused on Beyond the Bar, Business, and Culture content for Tales 2021 and connecting new voices in the industry.

The Education and Grants committees will produce multilingual resource videos and welcome applicants from a variety of countries through accessible and inclusive application processes.

MENTORSHIP
In an effort to provide long lasting mentor relationships that extend past the week of Tales, Tales of the Cocktail Foundation is utilizing its relationships with industry professionals across the globe to establish a Mentorship Program specifically for its CAP network. TOTCF’s Mentorship Program is a 6-month one-on-one program designed to help CAP alumni work towards specific professional development goals. Participants and their mentors will design a personalized goal-driven plan which will be supplemented by group meetings, symposiums, and workshops led by TOTCF and related subject matter experts.

UNDERWRITING
After concluding TOTCF2020, the Foundation began working with our partners to establish annual underwriting funds for the Foundation’s initiatives. William Grant & Sons was the first Partner to confirm their support.
